

Initiatives of Change ~ Our Theory of Change in Action

Assumptions that guide our lives + work:

To change the world, we must start with ourselves

Being guided by honesty, purity, unselfishness + love helps us align intention and action

A Practice of quiet time guides:

- Connection (noticing: What is present + affecting us)
- Correction (understanding what this means + opening up options: so, what...?)
- Direction (making choices for focused action: Now what?)

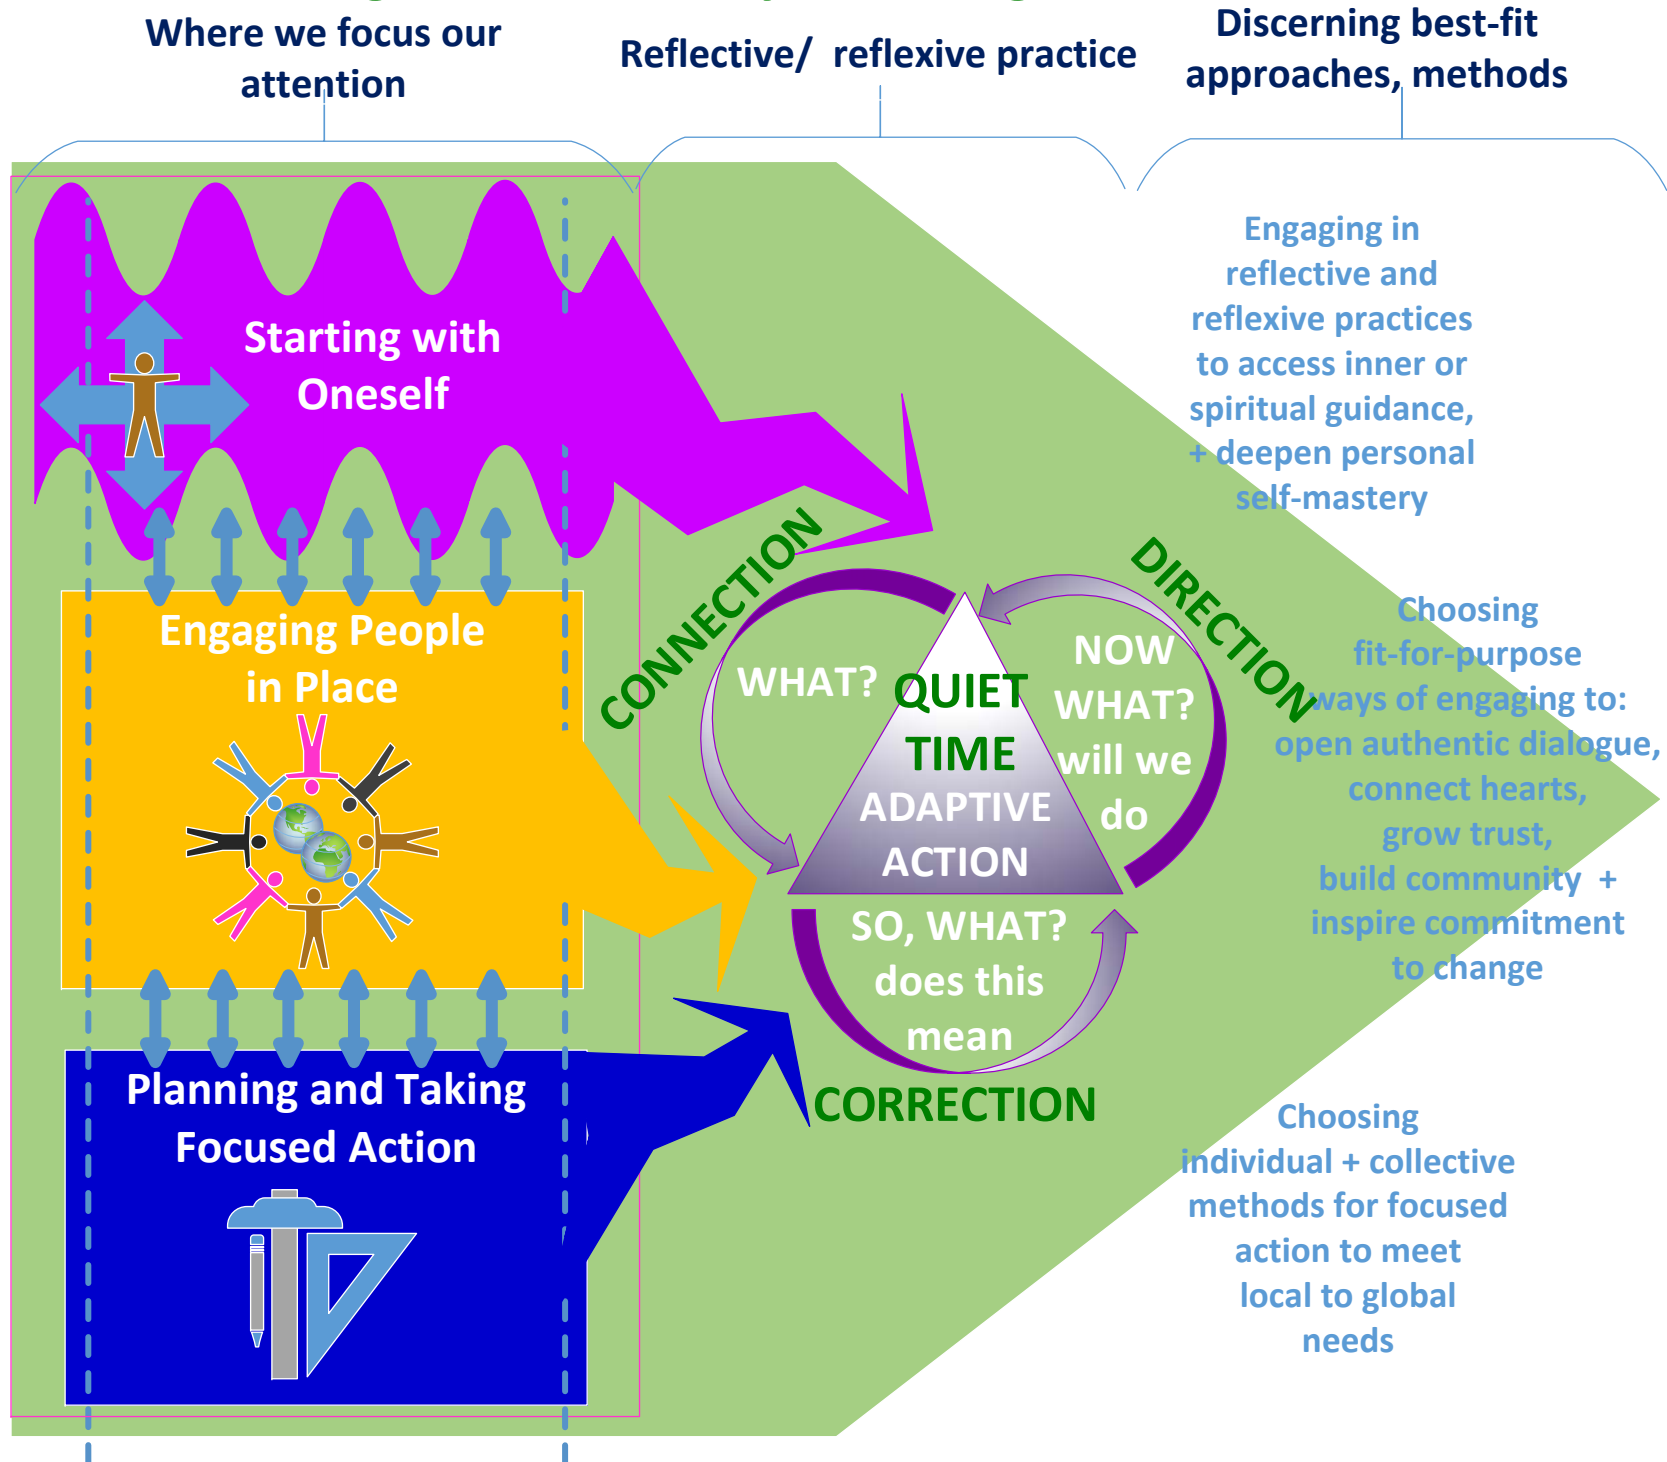

And it sources:

- Inner wisdom, and
- Unlocks creative potential

Behaviours that 'seed' our way of life:

These Seed Behaviours illuminate who we are + how we seek to engage with ourselves, others + the world. We invite you to try them; see where they take you:

1. Care for self, others + our planet
2. Engage in quiet time
3. Engage with purpose
4. Share + learn through honest conversation
5. Turn judgement into curiosity
6. Serve + receive service joyfully
7. Turn scarcity into creativity
8. Follow through on promises

Initiatives of Change ~ Our Theory of Change in Action

'We discover a need and our inner Call arises. Because of our intense wish to serve, we dare to risk our egos, reputation and failure. We live with deep uncertainty often finding ourselves facing what seems impossible. We do not draw back. We face challenges and trauma and out of these, comes breakthrough. It is always unexpected. We don't know when, where, if or how the moment of change will happen; yet somehow, it does.' (quote from African Co-ordinating Group, IofC)

Starting with Oneself

Engaging People in Place

Planning + Taking Focused Action

Quiet Time/ Adaptive action iterations

